5th Annual

ICoTA Intervention Technology Award

The Intervention & Coiled Tubing Association (ICoTA) is now accepting nominations or entries for the 5th Annual Intervention Technology Award which recognizes outstanding technical innovation or application of technology for well intervention. The application of the new intervention technology or technique should demonstrate; reduced risk, increased production, improved safety or minimized environmental impact.

Judged by industry peers - all experienced practitioners in the area of well intervention and coiled tubing, this Award is highly prized and will be considered annually by ICoTA to support its mission: "To enhance communication, gather technical expertise and promote safety, training competency and industry accepted practices".

ICoTA will announce the winner of the Intervention Technology Award during the SPE / ICoTA Coiled Tubing and Well Intervention Conference & Exhibition in Houston on April 5-6, 2011. In addition to public recognition during the conference and on the ICoTA website, the winner will receive the Intervention Technology Award perpetual trophy plus an award to retain.
